. The learned counsel for the petitioner states that an inter-locutory order passed by the trial Court has been challenged in the instant petition. He further places on record a copy of the judgment and decree passed in the suit by the trial Court. It is stated that as the suit itself is disposed of, the petition is rendered infructuous. The copy of the judgment and decree is taken on record. In view of the disposal of the suit, the petition is rendered infructuous. It is thus summarily dismissed.
